Deputy Commissioner of Charities Doherty will be in charge of the new bureau. He believes he can save many thousands of dollars by compelling parents to guarantee the support of children now maintained in city institutions. He was allowed a bureau chief and two desertion officers. It is believed about fifty cases a month can be handled. With an average of fifteen successful cases in every fifty it is estimated the city will save at least $20,000 a year. OPPENHEIM, COLLINS & CO
